

TEACHING TOLERANCE®

EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN
Morris Dees

EDITOR
Sara Bullard

DESIGN DIRECTOR
Paul Forrest Newman

RESEARCH ASSOCIATE
Jim Carnes

STAFF WRITER
David Aronson

EDITORIAL ASSISTANT
Elsie Williams

DESIGNER
Susan Hulme/Wright

EDITORIAL CONSULTANT
Richard Cohen

PRODUCTION SUPERVISOR
Betty Powell

ADVISORY BOARD

Robert Coles
Child Psychiatrist, Harvard University

Moyra Contreras
Bilingual Teacher, Oakland, California

John Hope Franklin
Professor Emeritus, Duke University

Mary Hatwood Futrell
President, World Confederation of the Teaching Profession

Maxine Greene
*Professor Emeritus, Teachers College
Columbia University*

John A. Lammel
Principal, Millard South High School, Nebraska

Maya Lin
Artist/Architect, Civil Rights Memorial

Teaching Tolerance is mailed twice a year at no charge to educators. It is published by the Southern Poverty Law Center, a nonprofit legal and education foundation based in Montgomery, Alabama. The Center's Executive Director is Edward Ashworth. Its directors are: Joseph J. Levin, Jr., Patricia Clark, Frances Green, Hon. Rufus Huffman, Howard Mandell and Jack Watson.

Send letters and article ideas to:
Editor, Teaching Tolerance • 400 Washington Ave.
Montgomery, AL 36104 • FAX 205/264-3121

© 1993 Southern Poverty Law Center

ISSN 1066-2847

If anyone has produced a more comprehensive, enticing or rewarding multicultural curriculum than Americans All, we haven't seen it. This study program developed by the Coordinating Committee for Ellis Island, N.Y., examines U.S. history through the experiences and achievements of six major cultural groups (African Americans, Asian Americans, European Americans, Mexican Americans, Native Americans and Puerto Ricans). The material is designed to supplement existing social studies curricula for grades 3, 5, 8 and 11 but could easily stand on its own. Replete with resource handbooks, time lines, charts, maps, audiocassettes, hundreds of archival photographs and an in-service video, Americans All is a veritable museum in a box. Prices (around $400 per grade level to $1095 for the school-wide starter) are reasonable, considering the year-round usefulness of the program.

Portfolio Project, Inc.
The Americans All Program
5760 Sunnyside Avenue
Beltsville, MD 20705
(301) 982-5622